Cookies and Third Party Services

The above categories of data may be processed by so-called "cookies" or other third party services. Cookies are text files that are stored on your device.

"Technical" cookies exclusively ensure the functionality of our website and do not require your consent. These cookies recognise and store temporary data from website visitors. We use these technical cookies exclusively to the extent necessary to communicate with your device via the website. The settings of these technical cookies are determined by pre-contractual measures (Art 6 Para 1 lit b GDPR) or are justified by our overriding legitimate interest in the functionality of our website (Art 6 Para 1 lit f GDPR).

In addition to these technical cookies, we may also use "third party services" (e.g. "marketing cookies", "analysis cookies", "non-required cookies", "pixels" or similar technologies). These services enable us to better understand and evaluate your interests. With the help of these services, we can merge your surfing behaviour beyond the boundaries of our website with data from other websites. This data allows us to better understand the interest of visitors to our websites and to address them in a more targeted manner. For this purpose, the respective categories of your required data will also be transmitted to the respective service provider. We respect that not every visitor to our website wants this. Therefore, we only process your data through these third party services if you give us your consent to do so.

Your consent to the processing of your data by services that process your data in the USA or in China is based on Art 49(1)(a) of the GDPR (exceptions for specific cases). The reason for this legal basis is that there is currently no valid adequacy for the USA or China pursuant to Art 45 GDPR. This means that your rights in connection with the processing of your data in the USA or in China cannot be guaranteed, which we expressly point out. This applies exclusively until we can offer you a technical solution to prevent any data transfer to "insecure third parties" or until a new adequacy decision is adopted.

You can revoke your consent at any time by deleting the activated services from the browser of your device, whereby the data processing that took place until the time of revocation remains justified.

The following third party services will only be activated once you have consented to them via our "cookie banner" (the pop-up window that appears when you first visit our website):
